A General Upward Drift in Fruit and Vegetable Lines.

BUTTER AND POULTRY YERY FIRM.

Melons Out, Peaches Nearing the End,

Grapes Abounding. SUPPLY OF FISH BELOW THE DEMAND

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, FRIDAY, September 20, 1889.

Materials for the market basket have undergone very few changes since last Saturday. The weather has not been favorable the past few days to active markets at fruit and vegetable stalls. Dealers complain that trade has been slow all the week, but have large hopes of a bright Saturday. There is a general upward drift of prices in fruit and vegetable lines, but not sufficient to make any decided changes in retail markets. Potatoes and tomatoes are higher in a jobbing Penches Still Searce.

Choice peaches are not to be had and their day is practically over for this season. Melons are among the things that were. Grapes are plenty and a shade lower in price.

The supply of poultry is scarcely up to the demand, and markets are growing firmer, Throughout this section poultry is reported unusually scarce this fall, Our dealers are maiffly dependent on the far West for supplies

Butter is on the advance. The price of creamery was advanced 25 at Elgin Monday and 2c the previous week.

Staple meats change not. Prime beeves were sold at East Liberty this week by the carload for %4c, a price 234c below what the same would have brought about a year ago. There is no change in the price of fancy cuts of beef, though the rough portions are some lower.

Everybody Wants Fish.

It has been next to impossible to meet the demand for fish since the great storms visited the Eastern shores some ten days ago. A lead ing dealer reported to-day that he could sell double the quantity he has been able to procure in some lines of ocean products. Retail prices have stiffened up a little, but the heavy ad-rance has been to the wholesaler, who must pay increased rates at the sources of supply in order to secure the goods.

Following are the retail prices of materials for Saturday's market basket as furnished by

Bad Grading and Heavy Flour Exports Give Wheat Bulls a Handle-Heavy Selling Toward the Close Turns the Tide and Advances More Than

Wiped Out. CHICAGO-To-day's receipts of wheat overran the estimate a little, but out of the 171 cars reported not a bushel graded No. 2. This remarkable showing for the season, together with the posting of unusually large flour exports at Baltimore, set the pace for another bull turn in the pit. Opening figures for the leading futures were 1/20% above yesterday's closings, with September 1/20 higher. December and May, in which most of the trading wa done, eased off 1/20 and then advanced irregu-larly 1/20, December selling up to 80% and May to 84@84%. A large business was transacted on the advance.

Shorts covered freely, and coupled with the demand from this quarter, which was large, and general buying by local houses, the market weakened a fraction. It was further de-pressed just before the close by the se'ling of 500,000 December in large blocks at 79% by a heavy old bear operator who has been out of the market for some time. The close wa weak with the early advance all lost. The latest quotations was 1/2c and 1/2c below those latest quotations was ½c and ½c below those of yesterday.

A very good business transacted in corn, the market ruling active at times. The feeling early was firm, but as the session advanced a weaker tone was developed and trading was at lower prices. The market opened firm at yesterday's closing prices, influenced mainly by the advance in wheat, and prices advanced ½@½c, but when the estimates for to-morrow became known offerings became heavy and prices declined ½@½c, ruled easy and closed ½@½c lower than yesterday.

Trading was a little more animated in oats, to-day a firmer feeling prevailing early. Later, however, the demand fell off, the market became weak and prices receded. May received the most attention, and fluctuated ½c.

Trading in pork was a little more active and the feeling was somewhat unsettled. Near deliveries were easy, early and declined 26%5c, but railied again and closed steady.

An unusually quiet feeling prevailed in lard offerings were small on speculative account, and the demand was limited.

Trading was only moderate in short ribs. Near deliveries were easy, early and prices receded 2½@5c, but railied to medium figures and closed steady. Deferred deliveries were rather quiet at former prices.

IDEAS FROM ABROAD

Impressions of a Pittsburger Just Returned From Philadelphia.

BUILDING ON A LARGE SCALE.

Supplying People With Homes at the Rate of Three Thousand a Year. POINTS FOR PITTSBURG CAPITALISTS

The points brought out in the following interview with a member of a leading real estate agency on Fourth avenue are in line, mainly with considerable on the same subject that has appeared from time to time in THE DISPATCH. He had just returned from the East where he had been making arrangements for a supply of Eastern capital

Asked his opinion of medium-sized houses as an

"Pittsburg people, as a rule, call Philadelphia a slow city. She may be quiet, but is not slow by any means, especially in providing homes for the middle and laboring classes of people. Her apparent slowness and easy manner of getting along result from the method of living of her industrial population. Any family that wishes to can have a home of its own, and as every man's home is his castle, he stays there when otherwise unemployed to protect it and derive enjoyment from it. Take the northwestern part of Philadel-phia as an example. Blocks upon blocks of houses are going up, built in good style, with the best workmanship and materials, finely finished, each apartment containing six to nine rooms and on good streets. "A man who lives in his own house takes pleasure in fixing it up, and works far more willingly and steadily than if, when his day's work was done, he went home to a tenement where every step on the bare entry and hall-way caused a feeling of revulsion, as if he would like to go away and never return, and where, no matter how refined in taste and tidy the wife may be, she cannot make the place ook cheerful and homelike. The result is, in nost cases, that the family settle down in a state of hopeless indifference and end their days in poverty and misery. Man needs a spur to enable him to rise above his surroundings nd nothing serves this purpose better than the ownership of a home."

"How does Pittsburg compare with Philadelphia as a city of homes? "I am coming to that point. Our local pa pers speak highly of the great speration going on out Fifth avenue, near Oakland, and in other districts—but in this connection I refer especially to the former-where one of our nterprising citizens-good luck to him begun the erection of a large number of dwellngs. But what would they think of taking out 6,300 permits for houses in one year and putting them up in blocks of 200 or 500 at a time About 10,000 marriage licenses were issued in Philadelphia last year. With the large proportion of newly-married people who go to house-keeping, and the increase by immigration, Philadelphia requires over 3,000 houses a year to accommodate the increased population. The number of houses erected there during the year shows no overplus. They are all oc cupied."

"How do Pittsburg contractors' charges compare with those of Philadelphia?"
"So far as I have learned they are considera bly higher. A certain lady who owns property in Pittsburg, but lives in Philadelphia, expects to send a Philadelphia contractor here to put up a number of buildings for her in Philadelphia style, and at a cost, she claims, of about one-third less than Pittsburg contractors want to charge her. Why is this? I don't under-stand it. Are there not large tracts of vacant land here within easy access of the business portion of the city, and have we not enterprising contractors, with ample means back of them, to push and carry to completion any building operation they may be required to un-dertake? Then why cannot we have enough homes for our working people? Pittsburg capitalists and contractors, although liberal and enterprising, could learn much by studying the methods of their Philadelphia brethren.

A word of explanation seems necessary to relieve Pittsburg contractors from the implied censure in the foregoing. If business were of the same magnitude, and subject to the same liberal conditions as that of Philadelphia contractors, there is no ground for supposing charges would be higher. As it is, Pittsburg contractors are compelled to cut the garment Regarding the development of the coal and coke of the West Virginia district along the Baltimore and Ohio road, the Iron Trade Review says: "Ohio furnacemen, especially in the Cincinnati, Hocking and Eastern Ohio districts, are particularly interested in these movements. With direct running connections made with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the Virginia coke will soon find its way Northward, crossing the Ohio river at Parkersburg and Wheeling, by the former route reaching Southern Ohio and Cincinnati consumers, by the latter Cleveland and other lake ports.

"It is an open secret that the Baltimore and Ohio is working for a Cleveland connection, and the Ohio river extensions of the Valley and and the Ohio river extensions of the Valley and the Cleveland, Canton and Southern roads, will afford ample opportunity for favorable arrange-ments. The connection with the Hocking Valley furnaces, by way of Parkersburg, will also be direct. That the new region, once opened up, will produce decided changes in the coke markets of Ohio and the Northwest, there can be no doubt. Certainly furnacemen will hall with pleasure the advent of so formidable a rival of the famous Connellsville coke

According to the German Trade Review, of Berlin, a very remarkable profit-sharing arrangement has been made in the engineering works of G. A. Schutz, in that city. This gen-tleman, it appears, has placed 5 per cent on the amount of their annual wages in the local sav-ings bank to the credit of all those who have worked in his establishment uninterruptedly during a space of five years, ending July, and for all others he has paid 3 per cent into the savings bank. These payments will be con-tinued each year, and at the end of five years, thus, in 1894, each person will have the right to withdraw the sum standing in his name, together with the interest, Sickness and millitary service will not be regarded as interruptions in the employment. In case of death the relatives will receive the amount paid in. Mr. Schutz evidently desires by these means to re-

Stock Trading Very Light - Philadelphia Gas Still Progressing Backward.

Business was rather slow at the Stock Exhange yesterday. There was a fair demand for securities, but at prices a shade below the market and in nearly every case concessions were refused. The sales were 315 shares, of which 300 were Philadelphia Gas. It was hammered down to 86, but firmed up a little before the close. A small lot of Western Insurance Company stock found a buyer at 51%, the first move-ment in these securities for a long time.

Holders of Yankee Girl appear to have inside news of a favorable character, as she was held at 6. A private sale is said to have been made around 5. The rest of the list was about steady and featureless. Bids, offers and sales follow:

PLUVIUS INTERFERES

With Rusiness at the Banks-The Monetary Struction-Sinking Fund.

Checking to make up pay rolls was good yesterday, but bankers reported other lines rather slow, especially discounting, although it was better than at the beginning of the month. Something is done in this line every day, whereas formerly the demand for loans was fitful and erratic, with nothing doing for days together. The currency pressure is easing up, and the silver dollar is less nimble than a few days ago. The weather was against business, but a return of clear skies, with a suggestion of frost in the atmosphere, will make people feel like taking hold with a vim and "posh things," as General Grant instructed "pash things," as General Grant instructed Sheridan to do in the valley. The clearings were $2.298,551 00 and the balances $410,419 92. The Wall Street News of yesterday remarks: "Most of the traders who take a sensational if not a lugubrious view of the monetary situation are inclined to look for the wiping out of the reserves in Saturday's bank statement. A representative of this paper, in order to probe the true condition of affairs, had interviews with most of the presidents of the down town national banks yesterday, and found that while the situation might, in bearish quarters, be considered strained, it is by no means ominous. The banks will not lose any $5,000,000 this week, as has been reported, and even though the reserves should get down to the legal requirement mark no danger need be apprehended, because prompt action is sure to be taken by the Washington officials, and money on call probably will not rise above 6 per cent. Time funds are still offered at the low rates noticeable during the past week or two, and considering the bealthy demand for money in all probably will not rise above 6 per cent. Time funds are still offered at the low rates noticeable during the past week or two, and considering the healthy demand for money in all legitimate business circles, 6 per cent for the time being can neither be regarded as phenomenal or even unusual.

"A telegram from Washington says that the estimated requirements of the sinking fund for the present fiscal year are $48,000,000. The total amount already applied to this purpose since the beginning of the fiscal year by the purchase of bonds is $82,94,578. The principal of these bonds was $27,237,600, and the premium pail, $3,702,378. The expenditures on account of the bonds included $24,237,541 for $19,053,530 4 per cents, and $8,683,082 for $8,184,250.45 per cents. There is yet about $15,000,000 required for sinking fund purposes."

Money on call at New York yesterday was easy at 48034 per cent, last loan 4, closed offered at 4. Prime mercantile paper, 537. Sterling exchange quiet and weak at $4 84 for 60-day bills and $4 87% for demand.

A broker remarked: "The market is so close that this seems a good time for a change in some direction. From a little tip I received from New York to-day I think there will be a slight break. The long and short interests are very small, and there is no inducement to increase them."

A private letter from Bussia says: "Having just returned from Baku, the principal seat of the Russian oil fields, I can fully inderse the statement of the Kerosene Company that there are no signs of the oil fields giving out. During May and June of each year it is customary to find a falling off in the supply of oil at Baku; but, so far from the oil giving out, I saw on the morning of the day of my arrival at Baku a fountain of oil spout some 50 feet in the air, and at the rate of 5,000 to 7,000 barrels per day. This was considered by no means a novelty.

Northern Pacific Sugar Trust and Cotton Oil Pounded by the Benrs-Serious Disagreement Sald to Exist in the Directory of the Former

- Bonds Tumble. New York, September 20.—The stock market to-day remained in the dull and listless state into which it had fallen, and outside one or two stocks in the regular list and the trusts was extremely dull and fairly steady, with the dealings almost exclusively professional, and the fluctuations were confined to the usual limits of small fractions. The Coal stocks were the fluctuations were confined to the usual limits of small fractions. The Coal stocks were the strong feature, and Jersey Central moved up on good buying supposed to be for insiders, which was accompanied by rumors of a new arrangement which would largely increase the company's commercial tonnage, though they could not be confirmed. The stock touched 121. Northern Pacific preferred was weak again, the impression having been created in some quarters that a serious disagreement had taken place in the directory, and the hope which had been induiged in of dividends upon the preferred stock on January I were given up. This caused some selling, and the stock was the only one in the regular list which showed say decided weakness, dropping over I per cent. The Grangers were generally quiet but firm, and the earnings of Northwestern, showing a gain of 12 per cent, were well received. Louisville and Nashville were also rather stronger and crossed 77 again, but fluctuated over an extremely narrow range for the most active stock of the day. Sugar Trust sold excilvidend and became a mark for the bears, who hammered it down 25 per cent on the reiteration of the old rumors of an issue of bonds.

Cotton Oil was also specially weak and dropped over I per cent, though it was intimated to-day that the block of stock which had been on the market had been nearly closed out. The general list after a stealy opening was dull, but firm in the forencon, and fractional advances were the rule, but the dullness and the weakness in the leading shares induced some selling by the smaller holders, and the list sagged away again. Later in the day it was dull and heavy with insignificant changes, though declines were more numerous. Jersey Central was up 13, but Northern Pacific preferred was down 15, Sugar Trust 26, and Cotton Oil 15.

Rallroad bonds were dull, and the only feature was the renewed activity and strength in the Kansas and Texas issues, the sixes con-

Railroad bonds were dull, and the only feature was the renewed activity and strength in the Kansas and Texas issues, the sixes contributing $141,000 to the day's total of only $660,000. The rest of the issues traded in showed generally a reactive spirit, and the final changes are in most cases in the direction of lower prices, Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western firsts rose 3½, to 128.
